Plantronics SupraPlus® Wireless

If you're on the phone most of the day

A wireless headset is the ultimate in efficiency and freedom for the increasing numbers of office-workers who spend long periods on the phone. The SupraPlus Wireless from Plantronics offers absolute comfort, outstanding sound-quality and a number of well-thought out features, based on our unrivalled experience in this area.

The QuickPair™ feature, for example, means that a compatible headset can be paired – at the click of a button – with any. This means that hot-desk, or shift workers can keep their own personal headset, and use it at any desk where there is a base.

The 100-metre wireless range (up to 50 metres in a typical office space) makes this the perfect solution for helpdesk workers, for example, who are often away from their own desks, but need to remain available at all times. Two versions are available, monaural and binaural, both of which offer a noise cancelling microphone. Call centre professionals, who need the comfort as well as the ability to focus on the call against a noisy background, will really appreciate the binaural version.

If you are amongst the many people who now make lengthy conference calls, the SupraPlus Wireless headset from Plantronics means you can simultaneously write or type notes, access papers, or even just relax and enjoy your coffee, whilst talking business.
